

What we do at Avaib

Avaib was founded in 2004 as a multinational technology and consulting company that provides various ICT solutions to companies around the globe.

We provide various solutions in product engineering, IT services, cloud computing, mobile application development and SaaS applications with expertise in cloud computing technology by Microsoft and Amazon. Being the pioneers and experts in cloud technology, we have developed an array of products that have evolved over the years. These state-of-the-art products are now helping our clients grow their business without the hassles of managing on-premise infrastructure.

We also offer consultancy services to companies that want to implement cloud computing technologies within their organization. Our sound technical background and expertise helps to effectively manage applications in a SaaS environment. We believe every new innovation or product concept needs a great team that can enable market reach.

Project Communication Management

Empower Your Team With Effective Project Communication Tool

The volume of offline and online communication produced during a single project can be significant. In enterprise environment that typically runs dozens, hundreds or even thousands of active projects, the amount of communication is incomprehensible – and that’s why enterprises worldwide rely on Avaima.

Accessible online from any internet-enabled computer, laptop, tablet or smartphone, Avaima delivers the robust and easy-to-use communication tools that internal and external teams need, including:

- ✓ Organized discussion boards
- ✓ Built-in messaging with tagging
- ✓ Record hours that your team spends on projects
- ✓ Maintain complete history of the projects
- ✓ Designed to bridge the gap between your team and the customers

What’s more, Avaima integrates the power of the cloud with robust collaboration tools and automatically connects conversations with structured work items (e.g., projects, milestones and deliverables).

See why leading enterprises rely on Avaima to drive, manage and control project communications management across the portfolio.

Start your free trial today.

What’s in it for you?

Move faster with better data

Adapt to change faster and achieve objectives sooner with work management solutions, by bringing together work management, full reporting, visibility and an intuitive interface that anyone can use

Bring transparency, terminate disorder

Terminate disorder and inefficiency by connecting the business, your people & clients and work with full context and transparency

Work smarter, achieve results

Cloud-based project management software gives your workforce, customers and partners a better way to collaborate using real-time data, automated workflows and a user experience that lets them do their job effectively

Collaborate with your organization and beyond

Bring your teams together on a centralized cloud-based project management platform so they can share ideas, align to common goals and deliver results faster, both internally and externally with partners and customers

Engage your workforce and use resources fully

Experience an intuitive interface with one-click access into your resources to manage all the work on their tasks lists using cloud-based communication management software

Eliminate chaos and complexity

Focus your teams on the right objectives, share resources, develop strategies, align communications and enable mutual success

Free for 30 Days

Get started now with our enterprise-grade collaborative work management solution to deliver better project outcomes, increase productivity and deepen engagement

To get your trial

- ✓ Contact sales@avaib.com
- ✓ Get Verified
- ✓ Start managing work today

No software to install and no payment required.*

In less than 30 days, you will be able to

- ✓ Instantly Invite others to collaborate
- ✓ Plan a project and assign tasks
- ✓ Create reports and dashboards